WORC

Women Officials Recruitment and Certification

WHAT IS "WORC"?

WORC trains women to become referees / officials, certifying them to work as independent contractors at any of the Department of Recreation and Parks' over 180 Recreation Centers citywide.

WHEN ARE THE TRAININGS?

Trainings are held several times per year, in different areas of town.

In the coming year, we will be offering trainings in:

Volleyball, Basketball, Softball and Soccer.

WHERE ARE THE TRAININGS?

Trainings takes place at Recreation Centers around the City of Los Angeles.

MORE INFORMATION:

Enrollment is FREE and first-come, first-served. Participants in excess of class capacity will be put on a waiting list. Each training is taught by professional officials in their respective sport. All participants receive instruction, rule books and hands-on practice. In some cases, officiating equipment is also supplied. This is a great introduction to officiating. The Department of Recreation and Parks offers these trainings in an effort to bridge the gender equity gap in officiating, and expand our pool of female officials.

For more information and/or to be put on our email list, please contact Traci Goldberg at

*Achieving gender equity through a continuous commitment to girls and women in sports.
These trainings are made possible through a grant provided by Nike.*
